Volume XXXVIII

June 2019

Number 6

FROM THE GRAND KNIGHT

Brother Knights,

Time goes fast when you are having fun, as they say. We will have election of officers on Tuesday night, the 11th of June at 7:00 p.m. Hope to see you then. We still have a few offices to fill. Contact Bill Anderson or me if you would like to be an officer.

Our Knights of Columbus Club is busy with all the activities going on: softball, volleyball, driving range, par 3 golf, to name a few. We still have a lot of work to get ready for the big Knights of Columbus Bar-B-Que on 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th of August. Put it on your calendar. We need a lot of workers and please volunteer to help.

My term as your Grand Knight is up the end of June. This is my last letter as Grand Knight, and I wish to thank all the Council officers and their wives, all the K. of C. members for helping me during this year. I couldn't have done the job without your help. Also, I want to thank the people who are employed by us.

See you at the Knights of Columbus!

Your Grand Knight,
Bob Klingele

Perspective from the Pew

Lent has summoned us to change our hearts, to effect in ourselves the Christian metanoia. But at the same time Lent has reminded us perhaps all too clearly of our own powerlessness to change our lives in any way. Lent in the liturgical year plays the role of the Law, the pedagogue, who convinces us of sin and inflicts upon us the crushing evidence of our own nothingness.

But now the power of Easter has burst upon us with the resurrection of Christ. Now we find in ourselves a strength which is not our own, and which is freely given to us whenever we need it, raising us above the Law, giving us a new law which is hidden in Christ: the law of His merciful love for us. Now we no longer strive to be good because we have to, because it is a duty, but because our joy is to please Him who has given all His love to us! Now our life is full of meaning.

Death exercises a twofold power in our lives: it holds us by sin, and it holds us by the Law. To die to death and live a new life in Christ, we must die not only to sin, but also to the Law.

Every Christian knows that he must die to sin. But the great truth that St. Paul exhausted himself to preach in season and out, is a truth that we Christians have barely grasped, a truth that has gotten away from us, that constantly eludes us and has continued to do so for twenty centuries. We cannot get it into our heads what it means to be no longer slaves of the Law. And the reason is that we do not have the courage to face this truth which contains in itself the crucial challenge of our Christian faith, the great reality that makes Christianity different from every other religion.

In all other religions, men seek justification, salvation, escape from “the wheel of birth and death” by ritual acts, or by religious observances, or by ascetic and contemplative techniques. These are means devised by men to enable them to liberate and justify themselves.

But Christianity is precisely a liberation from every rigid legal and religious system. This is asserted with such categorical force by St. Paul, that we cease to be Christians the moment our religion becomes slavery to “the Law” rather than a free personal adherence by loving faith, to the risen and living Christ; “Do you seek justification by the Law . . . you are fallen from grace . . . In fact, in Christ Jesus neither circumcision or its absence is of any avail. What counts is faith that expresses itself in love” (Gal. 5: 4, 6).

. . . This gift, this mercy, this unbounded love of God for us has been lavished upon us as a result of Christ's victory. To taste this love is to share in His victory. To realize our freedom, to exult in our liberation from death, from sin and from the Law, is to sing the Alleluia which truly glorifies God in this world and in the world to come.

Let us not then darken the joy of Christ's victory by remaining in captivity and in darkness, but let us declare His power, by living as free men who have been called by Him out of darkness into his admirable light. God, glorifying our Lord!
